

STYLE

16 DECEMBER 2012

THE SUNDAY TIMES

ROGER, ROGER

FEDERER ON HIS WINTOUR
LOVE MATCH

MAKE MINE A SCOTCH

THE NIGHT KARL LAGERFELD
TOOK TO THE HIGHLANDS

KITCHEN CHANDELIERS

INSIDE THE BECKHAMS' NEW LONDON HOME

GOODBYE LITTLE BLACK DRESS

HOW OUR FAILSAFE FROCK LOST ITS SPARKLE

UPDATE

KNOW IT

BY MICHAEL HENNEGAN
AND LAURA ATKINSON

SNAPSHOT

Everyone dipping into Selfridges for their Christmas shopping is helped around the store by a bubbly bunch of Elfridges. Look out, though, they might get you under the mistletoe

TOM CRAIG

12

WOO-HOO

Style celebrated the launch of stylehotlist.com at our Covent Garden pop-up shop, with Fentimans, our fave alco-free drink, and Bloom Gin. The trend was for big hair, with first prize to the performance artist Jonny Woo, wearing a look he called: "Advent — open the fenêtres and out I pop." Next, Nancy Dell'Olivo, whose expert backcomb shone against Chris Bracey's neon lights. How was Nancy planning to wind down post-party? She's off to Italy, where she'll be shelving the animal print for a "comfy tracksuit". Oh, Nancy.

Top left Style editor Tiffanie Darke with Markus Lupfer. Above Nancy Dell'Olivo and Jonny Woo

From left Liz Hurley, Shingai Shonisa and Denise Lewis, Lady Gabriella Windsor and Mollie King

HORSING AROUND

And we're off — to the races with our mates at Moët for a flutter on the Hennessy Gold Cup and to debate the question: what's the right colour for daywear in winter? Blue, it seems. Liz Hurley paired her electric-blue coat with a fur stole, while Lady Gabriella Windsor opted for a royal shade. Our sympathies were with the waitresses in floor-length mermaid skirts and foot-high peacock-feather fascinators, poor loves. Still, at least it wasn't a nosebag.

DOWN TIME

VALENTINO: MASTER OF COUTURE

'I LOVE TO DO FASHION AND I LOVE TO SET TABLES. THESE ARE THE TWO THINGS I LOVE TO DO THE MOST,' VALENTINO TOLD STYLE READERS AT OUR PRIVATE VIEW OF HIS BREATHTAKING EXHIBITION AT SOMERSET HOUSE. SEE IT FOR YOURSELF UNTIL MARCH 3